

CONTENTS

Introduction	3
Chapter 1
THE REEVALUATION OF THE TRADITIONAL OPINIONS
The Literary Situation in the Beginning of the 20 th Century (1900–1911) ..	10
Translation Activities	18
The Educational Movement, Birth of Publicistic Writing and Emergence of the “New Literary Style”	33
The Discussion about the Place of Prose in the Literary Hierarchy and the Transformation of Traditional Prosaic Genres in the Beginning of the 20 th century	47
The Prose of the First Decade of the 20 th Century and Its Features: New Things in Content and Style. The Utopian Novel	59
Female Prose Writers as a New Development in the Literary Life of China	74
Chapter 2
THE FIRST YEARS OF REPUBLIC (1911–1918). IN THE SEARCH OF NEW FORMS OF FICTION
The Xinhai Revolution as a Forerunner of Changes in the Literary Life of China	94
Polemical Articles of the Second Decade Concerning Transformation of the Literature	100
From the “Prose Describing Feelings” to the “Prose of Lovebird Ducks and Butterflies”	109
The New Meaning of the Chivalric Prose	128
The Development of the Chinese Detective Stories	149
The Historical Prose	157
Chapter 3
THE LITERARY PROCESS OF 1919–1925
The Overall Situation	163
Literary Communities and Their Dispute over the Questions of the New Literature Aesthetics	166
Christian Ideas as the Factor Shaping New Aesthetical Concepts	172

Chapter 4

SHAPING OF NEW GENRES OF THE MODERN LITERATURE

“Problem Stories” as a New Genre of Chinese Fiction	191
The Genre of Non-Narrative Prose San Wang in the Twenties	207
The Development of the Travelogue Genre and the Reinforcement of the Foreign Theme in Chinese Literature of the First Quarter of the 20 th Century	209
The Transformation of the Love Prose: from the Novels about Girl Singers to the “Prose about Women’s Liberation”	249
The Emergence of the Literature for Children	274
Conclusion	288
Index	293
Literature	301
Summary	332